It should be impossible to organize a society with sinners. Indeed, a sinner wants chaos. So our society should be chaotic.

So we were born dismissed with the reflex to rise through work. We are ignorant and we understand ourselves with others. Thus, our destiny is due to society or to an example that has grown us. Thus a sinner who does not want to grow will still feel dependent on society.

Autonomy does not really exist but is hammered by devil to make us stupid. Indeed, our own truth's research, so asking ourselves why we are there, gives us answers with human spirit, a spirit containing all spirits. Indeed, humans understand each other through the human spirit. A species different from another species has difficulty understanding this other species.

Thus, those who do not want to grow will still participate to society. Those who want to understand their uncertainty will find answers with ideas simplifying human world, while the world is very complex.

The complexity thus becomes simple for the one who seeks truth, since he has the answers to his questions making it possible to reorganize everything with benefit according to what he wants. Thus he will be ahead of those who follow and will be their prophet. So a non-Christian who seeks the truth will eventually finish ahead of a Christian follower.
